The UK's most high profile Asian media event of the year

The Asian Media Awards recognise the strength and depth of the media industry. The awards also aim to highlight the ground breaking work of reporters and producers in highlighting issues affecting race relations and human rights.

The awards reward the efforts of media organisations in helping to galvanise their communities and forging ahead with what sometimes are limited resources.

It showcases the very best talent working in the Asian media and those working in the mainstream media.

It also serves as a platform for those working in the industry to network with mainstream organisations where they are vastly underrepresented.

The Asian Media Awards are supported and backed by some of the world's foremost media organisations.

Sponsorship of the awards offers a gateway into the Asian and mainstream media industry and influential power brokers.

Asian Media Awards Shortlist Announcement 2025

Monday 16 September

A special event for 200 invited guests where we announce the short-listed candidates for the Asian Media Awards. The event is attended by finalists, partners and sponsors from across the UK.

In 2013 this was at London's Living Room, City Hall overlooking London Bridge. From 2014 to 2017 this was held at ITV, The London Studios.

Essence MediaCom HQ hosted this event in 2024.

Asian Media Awards Ceremony 2025

Friday 31 October, Manchester

This 500 round table dinner event is THE Asian media event of the year. It is attended by leading members of the Asian media and entertainment industry and brings together industry professionals and companies from across the UK. The awards take place in Manchester.

What They Said

"Being in this room with all this incredible talent and seeing your being celebrated by the Asian Media Awards is testament to how much progress being made. And that is brilliant to see."

Presenter and broadcaster Tina Daheley one being named Media Personality of the Year 2023

"Persevere. Do whatever you can to learn the ropes, in local radio, community radio, hospital radio, retail stores radio, make mobile phone videos of your work, use Instagram, Tik Tok, whatever, get across the latest technology, bang on the door of your local BBC TV or commercial station, go to a broadcast academy, and most of all, keep writing!"

Lisa Aziz wins Outstanding Contribution to Media Award 2022

"I genuinely believe that there is no such thing as individual success. I think we are the grateful recipients of all the people who fought before us, all the people who fight for us who we don't know and all the people who fight alongside us."

Ash Sarkar named Media Personality of the year 2019

"This is an honour I did not expect in my lifetime. It is for me and all those Asian women and men who now shine in the media today. Many are friends and mentees. I know how hard it is- how much Asian and black talent has to strive to get noticed, get the breaks, to get where they want and deserve to be. This is a celebration of all that. There is still a long way to go."

Writer and journalist Yasmin Alibhai-Brown was presented with the 2017 Outstanding Contribution to Media Award

"I'm delighted and honoured to accept an achievement award for a body of work that I hope continues to inform and entertain and hopefully inspire other young British Asian Men and Women to do the same."

Ayub Khan Din, Recipient of the Sophiya Haque Services to British Television and Film Award 2018

"It is brilliant. It is a real honour and I really hope that young people of all backgrounds realise that you will be recognised for your hard work even when things are difficult and that is the real special thing about tonight."

Fatima Manji on being named 2016 Media Personality of the Year

"The truth is there aren't enough of us around. Lenny Henry, David Harewood and a lot of the others have been banging the table for the last year and trying to get people to notice what is going on. A lot of us feel that in many ways things are going a bit backwards in terms of representation. And things are not as progressive as they felt 25 years ago when I was getting into the industry."

Krishnan Guru-Murthy, Media Personality of the Year 2014

"When I was growing up, watching Zainab Bedawi on the news was mesmerising. These days there are more of us around, but there's still much more diversity needed behind the scenes and in senior editorial roles. "I hope I can encourage younger people to come into the fascinating and powerful world of journalism."

Ranvir Singh, Journalist and presenter, Media Personality of the Year 2015

"It's a real honour for me being nominated for a Sky programme. To have won an award is a big thing. It's not just me. My team played a big part. We all wanted to find out what was going on. What we found will stay with me for the rest of my life."

Ross Kemp Extreme World: India, Best Investigation Award winner 2014

"I'm humbled, as I said, when I accepted the award to look out at a sea of faces, some of whom are so talented, many of whom are so experienced and with so much success that to be given an award in their presence, by some of them as judges is so humbling."

Mehdi Hasan, Journalist and writer, Media Personality of the Year 2013

Taking centre stage

The categories for the Asian Media Awards aim to celebrate the wealth of talent within the industry.

The awards are open to newspapers, magazines, radio stations, TV and websites dedicated to serving the Asian community of the UK.

They are open to mainstream media organisations which have aimed to target the Asian community of the UK.

Categories also aim to reward PR consultancies and in-house departments and the individuals who work within them.

All work entered into the categories must be either carried out in the UK or where involving work overseas, initiated and co-ordinated by staff in the UK.

Organisations and individuals can enter multiple categories and entries can be submitted on behalf of nominees or by themselves.

A word from our supporters

University of Salford

"Over the last decade, the University is proud to have supported the national gala which has helped identify and bring wider attention to the UK's best Asian talents working across the creative industries.

"We are the premier partner of the Asian Media Awards because we recognise that it demonstrates that the UK's creative industries are brimming full of Asian talent and that it can be an exceptional example for inspiring future students of Asian descent to consider a career in these industries."

Payal

"We are delighted to be the official caterers for the AMA ceremony in Manchester. It has been a very special journey for us and we really do see it as a huge honour to be chosen as event caterers. We look forward to welcoming everyone to Manchester this October."

Cleartwo

Back in 2013, we never could have imagined that the AMA's would grow so large or that we'd be toasting your success at the Hilton, but we're so happy to be part of your journey.

The Awards recognise and celebrate the accomplishments of people in the media industry, from TV presenters to playwrights and activists, who have worked hard to succeed.

But they're more than just a celebration of these (admittedly impressive) achievements, as the AMAs have boosted the careers of everyone involved, helping people secure roles and opportunities by raising awareness of their work and helping them meet like-minded people in the industry.
